NUMBER 216

An English paper chronicles the important fact that Mr. Gladstone and his son Herbert, cut down a large tree in the park near their home, which occupied them two hours. When the facts are known, we suppose it will turn out that the son did the chopping while the prime minister did the bossing.

While Colonel Mapleson and Mr. Abney are having a sort of a war about their singers, the world moves on all the same, not stopping in its course to see what these two rivals are doing, and probably this is a surprise to them. It takes a mighty big man to hold the world in his hand now-a-days. Even Ben Butler can't do it.

Maine had a man named Lafayette Cook, 56 years old, who prophesied two weeks before the event took place, that he was going to die. He was not sick and did not seem to be disturbed by the solemn prediction he had made. He grew kind, gentle, happy and contented the nearer the time approached, and when the day came for his demise, he carefully shaved himself, prepared himself for the coffin, lay on the lounge, bade his family good bye, fell into a deep slumber from which he never awoke. All this occurred at Auburn and baffles all the physicians in that city.

The most pious thanksgiving proclamation that ever came from a state executive in this country was that issued by Ben Butler. In sanctity it equals anything that ever emanated from a religious body. Defeat has certainly done much to humble the pride of Governor Butler. He needed the chastisement for he was becoming the most rollicking old sinner in Massachusetts. But one can not but surmise that the old fellow got some enthusiasm D. D. to write that proclamation. There is more humility and scripture in it than Butler ever dreamed of.

Flower's life of the late Matt Carpenter will be ready for the public in about twenty days. Those who knew Carpenter well, and who have examined the proof-sheets, say the biography is an excellent one—well written and very comprehensive—and if any active person in Janesville, or persons in other parts of the county, desire to canvass for a book that will meet with rapid sale, they should apply to the editor of the Gazette, who can furnish information regarding the matter that will be of interest and profit to them. Several hundred copies of Mr. Carpenter's life can be sold in Rock county without any trouble.

The Rev. R. L. Cheney, of Bloomington, Grant county, son of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Mr. Russell Cheney, of Emerald Grove, preached the funeral sermon to the late Cyrus Sargent, the millionaire farmer of Grant county. The Rev. Mr. Cheney was an intimate friend of the deceased, and since his death, the great safe loaded with valuable papers and money, has been placed in Mr. Cheney's parlor, but as yet the combination by which it is opened has not been found. Mr. Sargent owned nearly 10,000 acres of land in Grant county, and was the richest man in the county. He was a man of marvelous industry and surprising tact and rapidly grew rich by the dint of hard labor, unaccompanied by speculation. It is said that in an old bible carefully laid away was found $17,800 in large bills.

The ways of some men and many women are past finding out. There have been some touching tragic deaths of late, and among them must be numbered Miss Nellie Turnbull, of Baltimore, and Miss Emma Bello Oertel, of St. Louis. The latter was strikingly beautiful and very accomplished, and her home was provided with all the good things that the wealth of her father could purchase. But the splendor of her home did not seem to have much charm for her, preferring to live with a man named Dunn who was both ignorant and intemperate. Last Monday Miss Oertel and Dunn were at the breakfast table when a quarrel ensued. Dunn threw a cup of coffee at her, striking her on the nose. She instantly went to the four courts to get a warrant for Dunn's arrest for brutal treatment. She signed the affidavit for the warrant, turned to leave the court, fell to the floor and in a minute was dead, internal hemorrhage being the cause of her sudden death. There seems to be no explaining the condition of the human mind that will lead a young woman to deliberately throw herself away under these circumstances.

We hope it will prove to be entirely untrue that Thomas M. Nichol is short to the amount of $30,000 in managing the Walnut Land & Coal company and the Fort Scott, St. Louis & Chicago railway. Wisconsin first discovered Nichol. It found him when he was as poor as a Kansas grasshopper. It took him in, gave him shelter and a position, and friends bought him clean clothes. Since then he has been on the highway to success. He became intimate with Garfield, with Sherman, and with the administration generally, and got to be commissioner of Indian affairs, which he held one month. He then became a New York banker, and lately the manager of the companies already named. We trust his ambition to make money has not led him to privately appropriating the money of his employers. Governor Foster, of Ohio, Speaker Keifer, United States Senator Miller, had money in Nichol's hands, and they have sent experts to see what has become of the money. Wisconsin wants its discovery to turn out well, and doesn't want to hear anything bad about Thomas.

One of the greatest exhibitions ever held in the south or the west, will be that held in New Orleans, beginning in December of next year. It is projected on a larger scale than any of the numerous exhibitions of the last few years and is designed to be not only sectional but national and world-wide in its interests. Everybody will wish the south abundant success in this enterprise. The south is learning to be independent of us in respect to many things which we formerly supplied, but the more the local industries flourish in the southern states the more profitable will become the intercourse between all the states. When the south shall drop the shotgun policy of conducting politics, and shall have nothing to do with riots on election days, but shall insist on every man voting as he pleases and that his vote shall be fairly counted, it will do much to promote its material prosperity. It wants more cotton to the acre, more factories, more work-shops, more school houses, and more northern capital. When it has these things in fair abundance it will be in a position to shake hands with the north.

The democratic papers are very anxious that the country shall know that there is a movement on foot to bring out General Grant as a candidate in 1884. Among the paragraphs concerning the movements is the following which was sent west from Washington:

An organized movement for the nomination of General Grant next year by the republicans was started by prominent officers at a recent army reunion in Massachusetts. But one can not but surmise that the old fellow got some enthusiasm D. D. to write that proclamation. There is more humility and scripture in it than Butler ever dreamed of.

POLITICAL NEWS.

Ex-Gov. Hendricks Discourses Briefly On the Political Situation.

Talk About the Speakership Race—Randall and Carlisle—Springer In to Stay—Ohio Democratic Editors in Council.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Gov. Hendricks is at the Grand Pacific, and to a reporter in answer to a question as to what he thought of politics generally, he said: "In most of the states the elections have found the reason of their results in local issues which have very little to do with the presidential election, and unless some of the issues involved can be worked into the contest I do not see how the result can be calculated by what has transpired. For example, in Ohio they had the prohibition question, which plays no important part in national matters. Virginia and Ohio are certainly very grateful acquisitions to the Democratic ranks, but no one can tell anything about the result on the line involved in state contests." The governor was asked what he thought about Butler. He said there was a great deal of vituperation in it, but he was not sure, he might be sure. In regard to where the next Democratic convention would be held, Mr. Hendricks said that some talk had been made about Boston and St. Louis, but he thought Chicago would be a very favorable place but for one thing. That was that the hotels were always full. Mr. Hendricks never remembered having come to Chicago, but he didn't find the hotels crowded. He thought it was the greatest hotel city in the world.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Ex-Speaker Randall is able to be upon the street again. The congressman's step-mother is a slighter, but his condition is not so serious as it was. To a reporter who saluted him and inquired as to his health he replied: "I am very much better," and to the question "When are you going to Washington?" answered, "To-day." Then the further interrogatory was made as to his chances for the speakership, and the response was: "I have no reason to complain."

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The Times' Washington special says: Some of Mr. Randall's friends (it is to be hoped he had nothing to do with it) have resorted to highly objectionable devices for injuring Mr. Carlisle in the valley of the Mississippi. The Mississippi by the way, is Mr. Carlisle's one valuable point. His friends easily explain that he has always been friendly to the improvement of navigation, but Mr. Carlisle has not been friendly to the jobbery that sought to obtain vast appropriations for building dikes along the river to save plantations from the expense of protecting their own lands. The Randall men have done their best to injure Mr. Carlisle in the Mississippi valley by misrepresenting his views. They have flooded that region with two sheets of posters purporting to give the Kentucky record in the Mississippi question, besides a vast amount of disingenuous arrangement of matter, intended, without stating anything incorrectly, to give a wrong impression. Mr. Carlisle discovered in one of these sheets two undoubted falsifications of The Record. One of those, referring to a vote some years ago, states that Mr. Carlisle voted against the adoption of certain amendments to the Mississippi appropriation bill which were supported by the river men. The volume and page of The Congressional Record are given in order to make the charge appear specific and a matter of record, yet the volume and page cited disprove the assertion they are offered to substantiate.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 17.—Hon. William M. Springer, member of congress from the Sangamon district, is very active. The report that he is not in the race for the speakership of the next congress is a mistake. He declares to a press correspondent that he will be a candidate and to stay. A prominent Illinois politician now in this city says the Democratic congressmen will vote for speaker as follows: For Carlisle, of Kentucky; Morrison and Townsend; for Randall, Worthington and Moulton; for Springer, Nesce, Kiggs, and Shaw; for Cox, Springer. The correspondent is reliably informed that Moulton, Townsend and Worthington will give Springer complimentary votes. On the final test Moulton will work for Randall, expecting the chairmanship of the committee on elections. Townsend will go to Randall, because he wants the chairmanship of the committee on foreign relations. Worthington will be first and last for Randall, because Peoria is a large manufacturing center.

OHIO DEMOCRATIC EDITORS. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—The Democratic editors of the state met here to form an Ohio association. They have been consulting all day. While most of the time was devoted to adopting a constitution, rules for advertising and the like, the talk in the lobby was on the senatorship, legislative policies, and an effort to keep the metropolitan dailies from overreaching the country press. The editors were mostly from the weekly party meetings, and the meeting at one time came near resolving itself into a Cincinnati organization, with Pendleton and Payne as leading candidates for senator. Pendleton is backed by capitalists of the Cincinnati Southern, Kentucky Central and other railroad organizations, and Payne by the Standard Oil, Pennsylvania, and other companies.

STRIKE OF STEAMSHIP ENGINEERS. GENOA, Nov. 17.—An extensive strike of steamship engineers is in progress here and prevails at all the principal Italian ports, causing much inconvenience and hardship to shippers and passengers. Four steamers, laden with emigrants for the Argentine republic, are detained here. The strikers offered to provide gratuitously a sufficient force to take a steamer to Central America with the emigrants detained here. They wished to prove by this that they are not contending merely for money but for a principle. The authorities thereupon offered to man the vessels from the crews of the Royal Navy, whereat the strikers withdrew their offer.

THE NEW STANDARD TIME. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The New York, Lake Erie & Western railroad has issued the following circular with regard to the new standard time arrangement: "At 12 o'clock noon Nov. 18, the standard time of the New York, Lake Erie & Western railroad will be made four minutes slower than the present standard time. No change will be made in the existing time tables, but clocks and watches will be changed to conform to the new standard time."

LIMERICK ELECTION. LIMERICK, Nov. 17.—The parliamentary election to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Richard O'Shaughnessy occurred and was conducted in a most orderly manner. The result is as follows: Edward McConville, Fenianite, 92; James Spaight, Conservative, 47.

SPEAK RIGHT UP. "Have tried Thomas Electric Oil for group and colds, and find it the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm. Lay, 510 Plymouth Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., sold by Palmer & Stevens and Eberer & Co.

DOWN AN EMBANKMENT.

Terrible Accident on an Excursion Train—One Killed and Eight Wounded.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—A terrible accident befell the west-bound passenger train on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific road, at a point about two miles west of Junesport, Mo. The train, which was due at Kansas City at 8 a. m., was several hours late, and was running at a high rate of speed, when one of the wheels of the rear coach broke, precipitating the rear car down a high embankment and mixing up the passengers in a struggling mass. The car, which belonged to the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway, a branch of the Rock Island, contained a large excursion party composed of well known citizens of St. Paul and Minneapolis, en route to California with their families. When the car rolled down the embankment the stove was upset and the hot coals scattered in all directions, the scene being a horrible one for awhile, as it was thought the car would catch fire and burn with its load of human freight. The flames were at once put out, however, and the passengers removed from the wreck through the windows and doors. It was thought at first that several were killed, but when the injured were removed a Mr. Adam Gotzain, of Minneapolis, was found to be the only one fatally injured, he dying of his wounds shortly after the wreck. His wife was seriously injured, and will probably die, while a niece who was traveling with them received two dangerous wounds. The railway company did everything possible for the injured, a portion being quartered at the hotels in Junesport, the remainder, who could not travel, being removed to Trenton. The train bearing the excursionists reached Kansas City at a late hour in the afternoon, and many startling tales were told by those who escaped. At 10 o'clock p. m. the party, with the exception of the badly wounded, continued their trip toward California over the Santa Fe road.

The killed and wounded are as follows: Adam Gotzain, Minneapolis, dead. Mrs. Adam Gotzain, injured in back and head, can not recover. Miss Anna Gotzain, scalp wounds. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Smith, and son, Valley City, Dakota, badly cut and bruised. W. A. Vessinger, St. Paul, badly burned and cut on head. E. Basher, Minneapolis, head burned. W. Henderson, St. Paul, ribs broken and cut. M. P. Nichols and daughter, St. Paul, badly cut and bruised. Mr. Whitney, St. Paul, cut on head.

WANTS AN ACCOUNTING.

Daniel Wells, of Milwaukee, Calls Upon Peter McGeech Through the Court.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 17.—Great interest was aroused in commercial circles shortly after noon by the announcement that Daniel Wells had brought suit against Peter McGeech to call the latter to an accounting for all the transactions in which the two were concerned at the time of the collapse of McGeech's land corner last July. The details of the disreputable speculation are fresh in the minds of business men throughout the country who still feel in their own individual enterprises the unsettling influence which the immense catastrophe had upon every branch of trade. Every bushel of wheat and every barrel of pork in the country, so chamber of commerce gossip avers, is selling for less to-day than it would have commanded but for the Napoleonic attempt which McGeech made and failed in. The financial loss which the collapse brought upon the prime movers in the McGeech corner is known to have run in millions of dollars.

The announcement that legal proceedings for an accounting had been brought by Mr. Wells, was received in well informed circles as not altogether in the nature of a surprise. The claim in the suit was filed in the sheriff's office at noon, showing that Winfield Smith appeared as attorney for Mr. Wells. A reporter called at Mr. Smith's residence on Wisconsin street, to learn additional details of the case. Mr. Smith smiled as he said:

"Well, all there is to it is that suit is brought to compel an accounting of business transactions between one partner and another."

It was learned at a late hour that the complaint had not been completed, and only the summons was filed. Several law firms will be interested in the case. Wells, Brigham & Upham are interested with Mr. Smith as counsel for Mr. Wells.

AFTER HIS "CHARACTER." WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Margaret E. Saxton has filed charges involving the moral character of Assistant Commissioner of Patents J. G. Dyrenforth, with the secretary of the interior. The charges allege specific acts, give time and dates and localities, and are of the most damaging nature. Secretary Teller refuses to make the charges public, believing that to do so before investigating them would be an act of injustice to Mr. Dyrenforth. Mrs. Saxton was formerly a clerk in the patent office, and her name and that of Mr. Marble, the late commissioner, were several months ago connected in an unsavory manner in the public prints. The friends of Mr. Dyrenforth allege that his efforts in having Mrs. Saxton dismissed from office at that time makes her now seek revenge in this way, and they do not hesitate to characterize her action as an attempt at blackmail.

NELLING SAYS HE WILL PLEAD GUILTY. FOWLER, Ind., Nov. 17.—Sheriff Scanlon received an order for Nelling, and in company with one deputy, quickly went to Lafayette and brought Nelling to Fowler. There were no manifestations either at Lafayette or en route, as no one knew of his removal. Sheriff Manning, of Lafayette, accompanied the party here. As he was taken from the train at Fowler, the usual number of people expressed surprise at seeing Nelling, but he walked through the main street to jail without the least disturbance. Nelling says he will plead guilty in court next Tuesday, and expects to hang.

DIDN'T KEEP UP THE PACE. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The concluding heats of the trotting contest between Frank and H. E. Wishup were trotted, the latter winning over the Prospect park fair ground course, Brooklyn, in two straight heats. The time was remarkably slow when compared with that of Thursday, being 2:30 1/2 on the first and 2:15 1/2 on the second mile. The race was for a purse of $2,000, with $500 premium for a beaten record, the premium going to Frank and mate on their Thursday's record, 2:08 1/2.

SOME JOURNALISTIC CHANGES. WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 17.—Clifton A. Snowdon, formerly of The Chicago Times, has resigned the position of managing editor of The National Republican, and will on Monday become managing editor of The New York World. W. F. Nichols, formerly of The Chicago Herald, takes Snowdon's place as managing editor of The Republican.

APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON CITY, Nov. 17.—The president has appointed John M. Langston, of Washington, to be charge d'affaires at Santo Domingo, in addition to his duties as minister to Hayti.

RIPLEY & DUTTON.

W. W. Hall, M. D., the editor of the Journal of Health published in New York, and a recognized authority on medical subjects, has the following to say of medicines used for coughs:

"The remedies for coughs, colds and consumption are innumerable, the combinations of ingredients are infinite; but if the reader is observant, he will find not one in a hundred will there be, which does not contain Opium in the form of Paregoric, Laudanum or Morphia, producing every year water on the brain in multitudes of children and apoplexy, or ruinous results to the digestive organs of adults. Intelligent druggists know that all medicines sold for coughs, colds, consumption, and tickling in the throat, contain Opium in some form or other. They repress the cough, but do not eradicate it; hence the first purchase paves the way for a second or third, and as it is the essential nature of Opium to close up, to deaden the sensibilities—constipation is induced, and becomes the immediate cause of three-fourths of all ordinary ailments, such as headache, neuralgia, dyspepsia and piles."

We give our positive guarantee that COLLEY'S CHERRY COUGH CURE contains no Chloroform, Tartar Emetic, preparations of Opium, or other Narcotic, and may be administered to children with perfect safety. Unlike the Opium Cough Medicines generally sold, which lend but momentary relief at the expense of entangling the patient in a remedy that does not dry up a cough and leave the disease behind it, but strikes directly at the cause; carries off all the phlegm accumulated in the lungs and Throat, and heals them. For sale by PRENTICE & EVENSON, Druggists, opposite Post Office, Janesville.

THE CARE AND RESPONSIBILITY OF CITY PRISONERS.

The Common Council Will be Compelled to Make Arrangements for their Keeping.

The legislature of last winter enacted a law forbidding county boards of supervisors paying for the keeping of prisoners in the county jail except those committed by due process of law. At the recent meeting of the Rock county board of supervisors, the following instructions to the sheriff were adopted:

"Whereas, It having come to the knowledge of this board of supervisors for Rock county, that the jail of said county has been used for illegitimate purposes, it having been a long established custom for the sheriff to receive persons into said jail who have been illegally committed. Therefore be it resolved, that from and after the adoption of this resolution, the sheriff be and he is hereby instructed to receive no persons into the county jail at the expense of said county unless such persons shall have been committed by due process of law."

The effect of the above law, and the instruction of the county supervisors will apply more particularly to the city of Janesville than any other locality, and practically closes the jail against the city, so far as the arrest of persons by the marshal and special police are concerned, "unless such persons shall have been committed by due process of law," which means that they must first be taken before the municipal court. As matters now stand the marshal has no place to confine a prisoner he may arrest after the hour of closing the court, and of course this includes all classes of law-breakers, murderers, thieves, tramps, drunks, vagabonds, and midnight prowlers. In view of these facts, the common council will be compelled to consider the question at its next meeting, and to provide some means for taking care of such persons as the officers may arrest during the recess of the municipal court.

In a conversation with Sheriff Harper, this morning, he informed us that he should continue to receive persons arrested by the city marshal the same as heretofore, until the next meeting of the common council, when that body could consider the matter, and make such arrangements for the keeping of the prisoners as it deems necessary. Of course, Sheriff Harper does this at his own expense, as by the wording of the above resolution, the county board will not allow any bill presented on that account, and it will be necessary for the council to take decided action at the next regular meeting either to arrange with Sheriff Harper, or build a "bastille" of their own.

Mayor St. John was very decided in his views regarding the action of the board in passing the resolution, but could not say what action the common council would take. He thought that the council would probably make some arrangement with the sheriff whereby the prisoners would be cared for until the city could provide quarters of their own, and would favor such temporary action.

The mayor is strongly in favor of the city building a calaboose of its own, large and strong enough to accommodate all the prisoners arrested by the marshal, and also an office for the marshal. He thinks such a building could be erected at a reasonable sum, and would give better satisfaction to the citizens, than to open up a book account with the county. A telephone could be placed in the marshal's office, and the people then could find that officer without much trouble. The above is simply his own opinion, and does not wish it understood as the opinion of the council. The council will be called upon at its next meeting to take action on the subject, and he has no doubt that they will act for the best interests of all.

City Attorney Hyzer is also strongly in favor of the building of a calaboose, and marshal's office, and this opinion seems to be in favor of nearly all our citizens who have considered the question.

City Clerk Church and City Treasurer Blount have an easy way out of the dilemma; which is, that the city use the clerk's and treasurer's offices for the purpose of a lock-up. Both these gentlemen state on honor, or to the best of their belief, that it would be the best means of getting rid of tramps, yet devised. The aroma emanating from the stable below, would cause each person confined in this place one night, to beg the privilege to count the ties out of town, without breakfast.

In reality, these rooms could be put to no better use. They are unfit for use as city offices, and it is a great wonder that those who have been compelled to do business and remain in either room for any length of time, have not revolted ere this. The experiment of freightening tramps away from the city by confining them for one night in the above place is worth trying, and it would please everyone who has business to transact with the city if the city offices could be removed to a more healthy locality.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

Mr. H. L. Shoemaker, who was hurt on the C. M. & St. Paul railroad track, at a crossing on the Janesville road, near this city, yesterday, died from the effects of his injuries between twelve and one o'clock last night. His head was badly cut, and his neck and left shoulder and arm were terribly bruised. He did not regain consciousness after he was hurt.

Mr. Shoemaker was about fifty-five years of age and had lived in Turtle for a long period, and was a respected citizen. He leaves a wife and two grown up children, John Shoemaker and Mrs. Charles Butlin.

A coroner's inquest conducted by Justice Goodall, is in progress this afternoon. The following are the jurymen: J. A. Sherwood, Wm. Bundy, J. F. Root, Geo. Ackley, J. K. Bullock and R. M. Turner. This forenoon the jury viewed the body of the deceased and visited the place where the accident occurred. A. A. Jackson, of Janesville, attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, is in attendance at the investigation in the interest of the railroad company.—Belmont Free Press.

Mr. Jackson returned home last evening, from whom we learn that the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental killing; that they exonerated the railroad company from all blame, and that the trainmen were attending to their regular duties on the train.

SIX PERSONS KILLED.

Fatal Smash-Up on the C. E. & Q. Railway.

OTTAWA, Ill., Nov. 17.—A fatal smash-up occurred on the Fox river branch of the C. E. & Q. railway, at Otter creek, fourteen miles south of here. The Streator express, which left Chicago at 5:45 a. m. in charge of Conductor Kennedy, was stopped by a construction train. An attempt was made to flag an extra freight train, which was following, but almost immediately the latter running at high speed telescoped the two rear passenger coaches with terrific momentum. Four persons were killed instantly: L. C. Pearre, lawyer of Dwight, Ill.; Mrs. Alexander Henderson and her daughter, of Wedron, Ill.; and an old gentleman, name unknown. The injured are: Louis Gruner, farmer, of Streator; J. Murdock, lawyer, Streator; Frank Schwartz, farmer, Otter Creek. These four were sealed by escaping steam, and their condition is critical. Sullivan, a Gardfield farmer was cut badly about the head. Fireman Smith and Engineer Frank Young, of the freight, Rev. Samuel Dickover, of Streator, and Dr. J. H. Finley, of Streator, were seriously injured. Conductor Doyle, of the freight, and John Henderson were slightly injured. The dead and wounded were removed to Streator, and the track was soon clear.

LATER.—Immediately after the accident the boiler of the freight locomotive exploded while included in the wreck, horribly scalding the imprisoned passengers, and blowing them within a radius of ten feet was blown to atoms. Louis Gruner and Rev. Dickover both died in great agony at 7 o'clock, swelling the number of dead to six, while several others are not expected to survive or are maimed for life.

PHILADELPHIANS TAKEN IN.

How a Sharp Swindler Played It on Quaker City People.

READING, Pa., Nov. 17.—A man giving the name of Benjamin A. Johnston, representing himself to be a member of the firm of Adams, Johnson & Son, this city, called on Bailey, Banks & Biddle, Caldwell & Co., Dearborn & Co., Shoemaker's piano agency, Presbyterian Co. of publication and others on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, in the early part of the week, and said he wanted to purchase well-known goods. He had some expensive dress suits, saying he would call again. He afterwards wrote letters from Reading on behalf of Adams, Johnson & Son, saying he would call on Thursday. On that day he called and bought goods to the amount of several hundred dollars. He afterwards called on Adams, Johnson & Son's in payment, and was pronounced a forger, and a large amount of goods, organs, pianos, diamonds, silverware, jewelry, books, etc., came addressed to Adams, Johnson & Son. The swindler is thought to be a Reading man.

ANCIENT OR MODERN.

Discussion of the Language Question by College Professors.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The presidents of Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Williams, Amherst, Wesley, Tufts and Trinity, and also a professor from each of the colleges, met here to consider the subject of modern languages in colleges. The discussion took place in the evening, and the question of languages, and the views of Charles Francis Adams, Jr., in his Phi Beta Kappa address, were not to champion his views. President Porter, of Yale, was the champion of the ancients and put great stress upon the advantages to be derived from careful and persistent study of the classics. President Eliot, of Harvard, was the most pronounced in advocating a breaking away from old lines and accepting new light.

The Embarrassed One.

New York, Nov. 17.—Bradstreet's reports for the past week 305 failures in the United States, being 14 less than the preceding week, 85 more than the corresponding week of 1883 and 80 more than the same week of 1881.

A. W. Kutchman & Co., wholesale dealers in fine goods, 622 Broadway, have accepted payment with a cash advance of $50,000. Cleveland, Cummings & Woodruff, dealers in dry-goods, of Chicago, report their liabilities at $232,000 and probable assets $400,000.

New Castle, Pa., Nov. 17.—The liability of Reis Brothers, shotgun manufacturers, of this place, whose works were leveled on by the sheriff, are about $105,000, held principally by Pittsburg and State banks. The creditors will probably continue the mill in operation. The assets are unknown, but probably nearly equal the liabilities.

Much Ado About Nothing.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—An interesting trial is in progress, the superior court between E. E. Richardson, as plaintiff, and D. H. and G. A. Wilcox, as defendants, for aggravated assault and battery and slander. The parties are wealthy and aristocratic and the plaintiff asks $11,000 damages for having been severely horsewhipped and slandered in July, 1881. The quarrel arose from balls being thrown from Mr. Wilcox's lawn tennis ground into the lawn of the defendant on York square. The case will be concluded next week, and a member of the Yale college faculty figures as one of the witnesses.

Prosecuting the Pension Agents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—Commissioner Dudley appeared before the grand jury and presented for their inspection a mass of documentary evidence against suspended and disbanded claim agents, with a view to securing their indictment for illegal business. A number of circulars sent out by these agents were submitted to the commissioner by District Attorney Corbitt, and were promptly denounced as false in every particular and only calculated to mislead honest people. It is considered very probable that a number of indictments will result from the commissioner's visit.

Lawyers Suspended.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—The following lawyers, against whom charges have been preferred by the bar committee of grievances, have had their cases acted upon: John H. Tuttle, was suspended for two years, and A. D. Penny, judgment suspended. Tuttle was accused of collecting money for a client and not turning it over; and Penny for unprofessional and dishonest conduct.

Boiler Explosion.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 17.—The saw mill of M. Maxwell, in Jackson township, Lyscoming county, was destroyed by the explosion of a boiler. James Huff, Charles Riggs and Nathan Ridout, employees, were killed, and James Campbell, A. Reed, Grant Huff and L. Mayor were wounded.

Woman Fatally Burned.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 17.—The wife of Louis Day, a colored barber, residing on West Federal street, was frightfully burned about the lower limbs and body by her clothes catching fire from a stove. She will die.
